

Q. In light of the fact that many people now deal with their bank accounts on-line, meaning a lack of paperwork, and given that access to this information is usually via laptops, phones or iPads which carry security how can I ensure that my executors can locate all of my assets?

A. It is sensible to prepare a list of all of your assets and how they can be accessed. This list should be regularly updated and if it is kept with your Will together with instructions for it only to be disclosed to your executors on your death it will greatly assist them.

Q. What about access to details of outgoings such as utilities which will need to be accessed on death?

A. The same advice applies; keep a list of user names and passwords to be stored securely with your original Will.

Our Contentious Probate team, led by Robert Weston, remains one of the largest teams of specialist members of the Association of Contentious Trust and Probate Specialists in the country.

We have been consistently ranked in the First Tier of the Legal 500 for Contentious Probate work in the West Midlands for a number of years.

"...provides a service that is 'second to none' and specialises in probate disputes. Robert Weston leads the team and is 'very reassuring with clients', and is someone who looks to find a resolution to problems". Litigator Suzanne Lee is 'very understanding' and provides 'truly excellent service'. Andrew Chandler is 'very diligent' and has a 'good knowledge of this area'.

We are recognised for being approachable, and for providing pragmatic initial free of charge advice.